

False sailing maps

Ana Leonor M. Madeira Rodrigues

University of Lisbon, Faculty of Architecture, CIAUD, Lisbon, Portugal

analeonor.rodrigues@gmail.com

Orcid: 0000-0002-9749-3475

Abstract

The text establishes a parallel between the shores that define the possibility of the island with the contour lines in drawing that enables our vision and our thinking.

Shores are the in-between of water and land; the same way lines are a ground zero of existence, a frontier between human and non-human.

Keywords: Islands, lines, water, limits, drawing.