

SHORT CV

Ana Cristina Correia GIL is Associate Professor at the University of the Azores, where she was the President of the School of Social Sciences and Humanities (2016-2021) and the Director of the Library and Archive (2014-2017). She is a member of the Centre for the Humanities (CHAM). Her research interests are identity issues and their relation to national culture, and Insular Studies, with a special focus on literature. In 2014, she has won the Centro de Investigação Joaquim Veríssimo Serrão Prize with the essay «Different perspectives about National Identity: the Portuguese case».